FOREST FIRES DEVASTATE PART TOWN OF ELKO

Forest fires, which for the past week or more have been spreading in the district between Cranbrook and Fernie, on Monday night entered the little town of Elko, and in a very short time had reduced to ashes not less than fifteen residences and two churches.

A sudden change of wind about midnight Monday haled the monster fire burning through Phillip's Canyon into renewed fury, and before means could be adopted to check its inroads, it had descended upon the village. Receding of the wind gave the fire fighters a chance to check the conflagration and get the elements under control, saving only a small portion of the little settlement.

An East Kootenay Power Company's plants were in grave danger and crews were dispatched to protect them. Elko residents, realizing the grave danger to their village, stretched 1,000 feet of hose about the residential sections.

It was about midnight that the flames moved north directly opposite Elko and ignited several homes. Although every means was taken to check the flames, the crews were powerless and 15 homes and two churches were destroyed. Furnishings went with most of the homes and several families are destitute.

Among those burned out were: Mr. Pitman, Alex. Todhunter, Carl Ingram, W. Kelly, Mrs. S. Roberts, L. Foley, F. Archer, two houses of Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Zinn, A. B. Martin, Walter Whiteland, W. Wilkinson, two homes by the old hotel and two churches.

The teams will line up: Hillcrest All-Stars—Richards, c; Sofko and Beaver, p; Andrechuk, 1b; Salanski, 2b; Sadlish, ss; Vejprava, Taber and Gates, fielders. INTERESTING PICTURES ON DISPLAY AT LEE LAKE

Mr. R. H. Parker, of Glasgow, Scotland, world-wide traveller, who has circled the globe three times, has been visiting for a few days at the ranch of his brother, J. L. Parker, at Lee Lake, south of Barns.

On Thursday evening he showed a series of lantern slides, reproductions of photographs taken during his travels, including views of people and scenery in South Africa, China, Japan, India, Fiji Islands, the United Kingdom and Canada.

Mr. Parker served in the Royal Army Medical Corps during the South African war of 1898-1902, and during the Great War was engaged in Y.M.C.A. work among the troops in France. He paid a visit to this district in 1903, just prior to the famous trout al-de at Frank in that year. He also visited Lee Lake three years ago on his trip to Australia and the Honolulu Islands, and on his return trip at that time showed pictures and gave a short lecture, which was very much appreciated by those who had the privilege of seeing them and hearing about them.

FAIRBANKS AT BEST IN FINE LIVELY FILM

Tossing away millions of dollars in a gamble for a girl's love is nothing to a romantic young man who is confident that he can always make more money, but that there is only one girl worth winning.

That's the key to the dashing comedy-drama starring Douglas Fairbanks, with B. B. Daniels as the heroine, which opens tonight at Cole's theatre, Bellevue, for a three day run.

Ultra-modern and sophisticated, brilliant in fashions, settings and comedy, the film was written and directed by Edmund Goulding for United Artists.

It anticipates the trend two years hence and has backgrounds of a modernistic nature created by William Cameron Menzies.

New York is the principal locale, with Fairbanks as a phenomenally successful stock broker who throws all commercial activities aside to pursue a girl who charms him away from the stock market. Bebe Daniels is the new type of society girl, immensely wealthy, made for luxury and actively going in for aviation.

Edward Everett Horton, one of the foremost drawing room comedians of the age, makes the picture sparkle with laughter, and excellent work is done by a tried and true cast including Jack Mulhall of stellar fame, Claud Allister, Emmett Corrigan, Walter Walker, June MacClay, Helen Jerome Eddy, Luana Walters, Phil Tead and Adriane d'Ambricourt.

Relief Expenditures

It is now an assured fact that a very large sum of money will be expended by the Federal, Provincial and Municipal authorities throughout Canada in the provision of relief to people in need of such assistance during the next eight, ten or twelve months. Premier Bennett told Parliament that the situation in the Western Provinces, because of drought and consequent crop failures, constituted a national emergency, while the unemployment situation, aggravated by the loss of purchasing power in the west, was more acute than ever.

As a result of this condition Mr. Bennett informed Parliament that a huge sum of money would be necessary in order to provide the relief required. How large a sum he did not attempt to estimate, but took the unusual step of asking for a "blank cheque"; in other words, any amount considered necessary with no limit whatever imposed. Parliament authorized the issue of such a cheque.

Unquestionably there is dire need for large expenditures for relief. They must be provided. No Canadian is prepared to see a fellow citizen suffer for lack of food, clothing, shelter or fuel, not to mention the possibility of dying from starvation or freezing to death. But while there are thousands of such wholly deserving cases, there are many people who can get along without relief assistance who will look upon the expenditure of large amounts of public money as just so much "easy" money and will be out to get their share of it.

Right at the outset it would be well if each and every Canadian taxpayer would get the fact firmly established in his mind that this is not "easy" money; that it is really the hardest kind of money—borrowed money on which he will have to pay interest probably to the end of his days. It is his money and it is in his own interest, therefore, to see that not one dollar is wasted or unnecessarily expended.

It perhaps cannot be too often stressed that there is no magic source of money supply for governments, and, further, that governments are but committees of management administering what belongs to the people. Every dollar of this relief money must be borrowed; upon every dollar borrowed interest must be paid every year; every dollar of interest must be provided by the imposition of taxation upon the people; every dollar of taxation imposed constitutes a drag, a handicap, upon a rapid and complete return to better times, an overhead expense to be carried and paid for throughout the coming years by every business man, every farmer, every workman.

Therefore, every person unnecessarily demanding and unjustly receiving relief he can get along without, is prolonging the period during which the extension of relief to those who really need it will be necessary. Such persons may even be accumulating conditions which, in the long run, may force him into the position where he himself cannot exist without relief.

It is in the interests of one and all that relief expenditures be kept within bounds, held down to the actual needs of the situation, rigidly restricted to those who cannot possibly exist without some help.

Communities, as well as individuals, should not be out to get as large an amount as they possibly can, but rather should be seeking out ways and means whereby they can get along with as little as possible in the way of relief expenditures. There are hundreds, yes, thousands of people, who by a little thought and self-sacrifice could help other people in this time of stress and emergency and thus appreciably reduce the number requiring public assistance. Many people who can afford to do so, and even some who can ill afford to do so, have in a sense "adopted" some out-of-work individual or family in need, and in many little ways, are making it possible for them to maintain themselves, with added confidence and self-reliance, thus reducing the demand upon public funds and checking the spread of "the spirit of the dole."

It is to be hoped for the sake of Canada of today and of the future that individuals, communities and municipalities alike will, for the most part, not be found boasting of how much they got in the way of relief, but rather will be pointing with pride to the fact that they were able to get along with so much less than others.

Word has been received at Ottawa from Paris, that the French Academy has awarded the medaille de Vaxmell to Lawrence J. Burpee, Ottawa author, in recognition of his outstanding work in connection with the early history of Canada, and particularly because of his scholarly editing of the journals of La Verendrye, last of the great explorers of New France and discoverer of the prairie provinces of Canada.

The medaille de Vermeil carries with it the title of Laureat del Institut.

Dictagraph Aids Firemen

Records of every telephone fire alarm made in Portland, Ore., are being kept on a dictagraph attached to the switchboard, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. When an excited householder screams into the telephone, "Our house is afire," and in his haste mumbles the address so unintelligibly the fireman cannot answer the call, the disk may be "played back" slowly so that the words can be distinguished.

The Mother of Seven Children Used It for Diarrhoea

Mrs. Bay Drinkwater, R.R. No. 2, Hagersville, Ont., writes:—"I am the mother of seven children, and last summer one of them, my little son, was taken very sick with diarrhoea, and I thought she was going to die. My husband and I called to see what my sister had given her baby, and she came home with a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I gave the child a few doses and he was soon well again. My other children also had diarrhoea at the time and I gave them 'Dr. Fowler's' with the same results."

Brief Winter Cruises

Cunard Steamship "Mauretania" To Visit Mediterranean Ports

The largest passenger ship charter ever made by a steamship agency, which will send the giant trans-Atlantic Cunard liner "Mauretania" on five important cruises to the Mediterranean next winter, was announced by Ralph Dellevie, president of the National Tourist. This enterprise, which surprises the steamship world by the daring and novelty of its programme, will involve financial transactions of a little less than $2,000,000.

The five cruises to the Mediterranean will be made in the extraordinarily short time of seventeen days. Previously for cruises of moderate length, the West Indies had been generally considered the only possible objective. Questioned on this point, Mr. Dellevie said yesterday: "The 'Mauretania' is one of only three ships that can make this cruise. Because of her tremendous speed she will be able to cross the Atlantic and divide five full days among the exceptionally fascinating ports of the Mediterranean."

"These cruises are arranged for business men and women, including week-ends, the seventeen days occupied on any one of the trips is just about equivalent to the usual two weeks' vacation. There is no time wasted. The passengers will get to the sapphire blue waters of the great inland sea in a hurry, but they will have plenty of time to enjoy new climates and scenes before this great ship brings them back again to this day. They will cover three continents and four countries."

Minimum rates for the five Mediterranean cruises to be made by the big Cunard liner will be $245.00 for the round trip. All passengers will be First Class and have the full run of the ship. The regular trans-Atlantic service, including a la carte menu in the dining room without extra charge, will be used on these cruises. A series of shore excursions will also be included in the stated price of the cruises.

Ports which the "Mauretania" will visit on her Mediterranean cruises will be Cadix in Spain, Gibraltar, Algiers in North Africa, and Villefranche on the French Riviera. A day will be spent at each port with the exception of Villefranche, where the "Mauretania" will anchor for two days to allow the passengers to visit the most fashionable of the famous Riviera resorts, including Monte Carlo, Nice and Cannes. The cruises will leave New York December 17th (Christmas Eve) and New York City, January 8th, January 27th, February 15th, and March 6th.

Appeal For Food

Ask For Surplus Wheat Of United States To Save Millions Of Chinese Flood Sufferers

An appeal for surplus wheat, of the United States to save 10,000,000 Chinese flood sufferers, who he said, may die of starvation before spring, unless aided, was made by John Earl Baker, United States authority on disasters in China.

Baker said the flood, which still continued in 16 provinces, was the most terrible disaster in China in 30 years. At least $300,000,000 damage had been done, he estimated, but would not even guess at the number of deaths, which the "Corpses River Society" asserted were not less than 8,000 in the flooded Yangtze Valley alone. Hundreds of bodies were being taken from the waters by the society.

Not Enough Names

While the Graf Zeppelin was on her arctic cruise she passed over so many undiscovered glaciers, mountain ranges, bays and other geographical features that there were not enough names to go around. Prof. Rodolphe Sannikovitch, scientific director of the expedition, said recently.

One person out of seven in Great Britain lived last winter on money drawn from a magic purse without a bottom, unemployment insurance.

Copied From Wrong Side

Heavens Reversed in Ceiling Of New York Station

Of the millions who pass annually through the Grand Central terminal, at New York, probably not one-half of one per cent. turn their faces skyward to look at what was once proclaimed the most beautiful ceiling in the world. It had a fine effect with stars, etc. But some cruel person came along and allowed that the whole works was incorrect in that the stary heavens were inverted—in other words, cockeyed.

When the new station opened in 1913, much space was given to the planetary ceiling, and now the bubble has burst.

A painter's error had put the stars on backward—that is, their arrangement is a mirror image of the stars' real position in the Heavens. An interior decorator copied a "celestial globe" from the outside, instead of viewing it from within.

Settlers Go To Peace River

Over Thousand Families Have Taken Up Land Since April

Approximately 3,000 people have settled on British Columbia lands in the Peace River district since April. It was reported to the government by the W. S. West, superintendent for the settlement for the province.

These include 1,073 families who entered the area and took up for a quarter to half a section of land per family. The majority of these new settlers have made a fine beginning in improving their holdings and getting the land under production, stated Mr. West.

Coincident with the arrival of Mr. West, who has returned from a five-month residence in the Peace River district, Premier Tolmie announced that the government had virtually decided to grant assistance towards the immediate creation of a modern flour mill at Fort St. John by an industrial loan.

Put It In For Lame Back — A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil will relieve lame back. The skin will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in, the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that it is an excellent article.

Deaf Mute Flies Solo

Though unable to either hear or speak, Edward T. Payne has made a solo flight in an aeroplane. This followed about 11 hours of dual instruction at Walker airport, Windsor. It is believed that he is the first person with such handicaps to fly a plane. He will be awarded a private pilot's license as soon as he qualifies.

The Only Way

As we figure it out, it would require millions and millions of pounds to solve the housing problem, relieve unemployment and discover cures for cancer and tuberculosis. And, of course, it's only for war you could raise a big sum of money like that.

Excavations in Egypt have revealed a large granary containing grain bins and documents of papyrus, some apparently connected with the property and its business deals.

Sells Cattle In England

Saskatchewan Farmer Makes Good Profit On Sale Of 55 Head

William "Bill" Porter, farmer of Wakaw, Sask., arrived recently at Ottawa from England, where he sold 55 head of cattle raised and fattened upon his own farm.

Mr. Porter brought along $1,300 in hard cash, being the difference between the British price for beef and the price at Winnipeg. By exporting to the Old Country he made just that much more money than he would have done if he had stayed at home and sold through the Winnipeg stockyards.

Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, referring to the Porter shipment, said that these cattle had arrived in England at a time when the market was flooded with Irish cattle. Otherwise Mr. Porter would have netted $2,000 instead of $1,300 above Winnipeg prices.

These cattle averaged 1,070 lbs., fifteen of the lightest animals brought a peak price of £26 3s. per head. The Minister remarked that Porter's was one of the best finished shipments to leave this country. The gain of $1,300, he said, was calculated after all expenses of the trip to England had been deducted.

"There is no market in the Old Country," said Mr. Weir, "for our really poor cattle. If cattle are below the two top grades the British people prefer to buy Argentine beef."

Testing New Type Glider

Fitted with windmill vanes, made familiar by autogyros, a glider, is being tested in Germany, with first results indicating that the idea is successful. On a vertical post before the pilot's cockpit the vanes, like a large four-bladed propeller, all horizontal, are mounted. The craft's wings are slightly smaller than those of the ordinary motorless plane. The vanes are said to enable the glider to stay aloft in lighter winds than craft of this type.

Famed Indian Scientist

Einstein Of The East Lives In Poverty Among His Own People

Sir Chandrasekhara Raman, "Einstein of the East" whom the west sought out as the recipient of the Nobel prize in physics, has been deluged with invitations from all over the world to lecture, and recently another came from California. But the Indian scientist is too poor to travel. He has no laboratory and only the most limited library. The man who has been honoured by a dozen foreign countries with medals and degrees lives in relative obscurity and comparative poverty among his own people.

His home is a small dark flat, in the poorest quarter of Calcutta. The room in which he made his discoveries concerning the nature of light has a stone floor, a leaky ceiling and bare walls, but visitors forget the shabby surroundings in his vivid personality.

Sir Chandrasekhara is only 43, tall and broad-shouldered, with a slight stoop. He dresses in the European style, with a white turban, his only concession to the native custom.

"I have little or no means of continuing my own studies," he said, "and unhappily there is little realization in my country of the importance of research, although it is remarkable that the greatest contributions to science in India have been made by Indians who had no foreign training."

Like Einstein, to whom he often is compared, this Indian physicist is a master of the violin, on the technique of which he has written several books.

An Italian war ace who went to Africa in 1919 on a Fascist mission for Benito Mussolini and remained to become an explorer, has left New York to study the "language" and habits of a red-bellied gorilla described to him by pygmies of the uncharted Tshilendu Forest in the Belgian Congo. He is Commander Attilio Gatti, veteran of seven African expeditions and survivor of two cobra bites, the dread black water disease and a charging family of gorillas. Specimens from his expeditions fill 23 rooms in the Royal Museum of Florence.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT PLANNED BY CANADIANS

Montreal.—One of the most ambitious trans-Atlantic flights yet contemplated, a journey by a fleet of five or six Aeromarine light airplanes across the Atlantic from Canada to Great Britain by way of the southern tip of Greenland, Iceland and the Faroe Islands, is in the course of preparation. Bretislav Pitlake, a former aviator, now living in Toronto, stated here.

The flight would be made next summer, Pitlake said. The start would be from Ottawa, with London, England, the destination. A preliminary flight by himself in a cabin plane would be made first, he added, possibly this year, but more probably early next summer.

Pitlake fought with the Austrians during the earlier part of the Great War, later joining the French Air Force. He has flown with the Royal Canadian Air Force in Canada and also, with commercial companies in this country and is a naturalized Canadian.

The light machines could complete without difficulty the 500-mile hops between refueling bases along the northern route, now being surveyed by British and German expeditions, Pitlake said. The route taken would approximate that recently flown by Parker D. Cramer who arrived unheralded on August 5 at Angmagssalik, Greenland, from Detroit and Copenhagen.

On the preliminary survey trip it was understood that Major James Hurley, Jr., a director of the Brantford Flying Club, would make the flight and possibly an Ottawa journalist. They would fly from Ottawa to Rupert House and then to Port Chimo, Port Burwell, over 500 miles of Atlantic to Frederikshaab or Prediksdal and south to Julianshaab, around Cape Farewell and up the east coast of Greenland to Angmagssalik. Another water hop of less than 500 miles to Reykjavik, Iceland, a third to Thorshaven, in the Faroe Islands and a fourth to Lerwick, in the Shetland Islands, would follow, after which the plane would be flown due south to London, according to the plans outlined by Pitlake.

Pitlake was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia, and was forced to flee to Austria early in the war. He escaped in an Australian balloon in 1918 and joined the French flying corps on the western front.

Churchill Townsite

Work Of Laying Out Site Of New Port Is Proceeding

The Pas, Man.—The survey of the townsite of Churchill has been completed and hundreds of men are at work laying out the site of the new port on Hudson Bay. A water supply from a lake three miles from Churchill has been located and pipe lines are under construction. Where the present camps are situated will be dockyards and farther up the slope of the shore will be located the residential district. A hotel will be one of the first buildings to be constructed in Churchill and it is likely one will be built before the end of September. All lots at Churchill are being leased by the provincial government who will throw open the new port next spring.

Canada To London By Plane

$5,000 Will Purchase Ticket On Proposed Flight

Montreal, Que.—The sum of $5,000 will buy some adventurous individual passage on an aeroplane flight from Canada to London via Greenland and Iceland, according to an advertisement appearing in a local newspaper. A third interest in the proposed flight, which will take place "within two weeks," is included.

The flight is to be made in a cabin plane flown by an experienced pilot, the advertisement states, giving no details of the identity of the sponsors of the flight.

Must Defer Western Trip

Ottawa, Ont.—Owing to the lateness of the parliamentary session, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Fisheries, has found it necessary to defer until next summer his journey to Pacific Coast Fisheries. The Minister had intended to spend several weeks in British Columbia at the height of the fishing season this year.

Drive Against Communism

Five Alleged Leaders Of Communist Organization Are In Custody

Toronto, Ont.—With the arrest by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Vancouver, B.C., of Malcolm L. Bruce and Samuel Cohen, alias Samuel Carr, five alleged leaders, or "key men," of the Communist organization in Canada are in custody of the authorities.

Bruce is a former editor of "The Worker," a Communist paper. He is 54 years of age and was born in Prince Edward Island. He is a carpenter and has lived in Los Angeles, Cal., and various cities of Canada. In May, 1923, he was charged with sedition in connection with the Besco disturbance in Cape Breton.

Cohen is 24 years of age, an accomplished linguist and platform speaker. He has recently been engaged in an extensive tour of western Canada.

Other leaders under arrest in the present campaign against Communism and Communist literature by the Ontario Provincial Government are Tim Buck of Toronto, political secretary of the organization in Canada, John Boychuk, Toronto organizer among Ukrainians and Mike Golinsky of Calgary. All three appeared in the Toronto police court and were remanded. Substantial bail was demanded.

Cattle Shipped North

Shortage Of Hay On Indian Reserves In Qu'Appelle Valley

Regina, Sask.—Owing to the shortage of hay on the Qu'Appelle Valley Indian reserve, northeast of Regina, Indian cattle will be shipped to reserves in the vicinity of Battleford to spend the winter, according to W. M. Graham, Indian Commissioner.

Reserves in the Battleford area have an abundance of hay. Mr. Graham said, and about 25 Indians of the Regina district have been sent north to assist in the cutting.

Three cars of horses and one car of mowers and other implements have been sent to the Battleford area.

It is the intention of the Indian officials, Mr. Graham said, owing to the shortage of hay on reserves near Regina, to ship the cattle to the Moose and Red Pheasant reserves, in the northern part of the province, where they will be wintered.

Pawnshop Authorized By Montreal Officials

Percentage Of Profits Will Be Donated To Charity

Montreal, Ont.—Establishment of a pawnshop under civic patronage has been authorized by the municipal authorities here. The city entered upon a contract with an incorporated firm, authorized this year to open one or more pawnshops for one year. The company agreed to give the city 10 per cent. of the proceeds of its business.

The money given to the city, fixed at a minimum of $1,000 a year, will be donated to charity.

The reason behind the move, it was explained, was that many people were in need of money but were hesitant about approaching an ordinary pawnshop. With civic protection and guarantee, these people would be assured of fair treatment and security.

Aviators Are Held

Pangborn and Herndon In Difficulties At Tokyo

London, England.—A Reuter's dispatch from Tokyo said the public prosecutor there had decided to order the confinement of Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., United States aviators, pending the outcome of an investigation of charges that they flew over fortified areas in Japan without permission.

The two flyers, who failed in an attempt to set a new speed record around the world, have been undergoing questioning by Japanese officials for several days.

Germans Invited To Conference

Basel, Switzerland.—A conference at which the entire problem of credits to Germany can be clarified was decided upon by the committee of experts presided over by Albert H. Wiggin, of New York, and invitations were sent to the Reichsbank president, Hans Luther, and to interested German and foreign banks to come to Basel.

Canadians Will Observe Fish Week

Montreal, Que.—Canada's fish week will be observed from September 13 to 19, it was announced by A. H. Brittain, president of the Canadian Fisheries Association. This year, as in the past, the co-operation of both Federal and Provincial Governments would be secured, said Mr. Brittain.

Long Motor Trip

Italians Plan Trip From New York To Rome By Car

Ottawa, Ont.—Bound from New York to Rome by automobile, via Nome, Alaska and across the icy stretches of Bering Strait, three New York Italians have left Ottawa for Toronto. From there they plan to drive to Sault Ste. Marie, Duluth, Winnipeg and across the prairies to Nome. If accomplished, the trip will be the longest ever made by automobile.

The intrepid motorists are Giuseppe Vada, the leader of the expedition; Emilio Miani and Antonio David. At Nome they will pick up specially constructed wheels to use later on the rails of the Trans-Siberian Railway.

One of the most difficult parts of their journey will be the drive across the ice of the Bering Strait. When they reach East Cape, Siberia, they will go to Irkutsk, covering some 2,500 miles of unexplored trackless waste lands. From Irkutsk they will proceed to Khabarovsk, where they will change the wheels of their car, travelling on rails as far as Moscow. From Moscow they will go to Rome by way of Germany and Switzerland. They expect to take 18 months to complete the journey.

WHEAT EXPORTS PROVE GREATER THAN LAST YEAR

Fort William, Ont.—The unvarnished estimate of export clearances of Canadian wheat for the crop year ending July 31, 1931, places the amount at 235,898,747 bushels, according to the report for July issued by E. A. Ussell, statistician to the Board of Grain Commissioners. "When final figures are available it will be seen that the past year's exports of wheat and wheat flour will be around 75,000,000 bushels more than during the previous year," the report states.

The report states that the amount of wheat in store, afloat and in transit, not including amounts in farmers' hands, is 119,279,545 bushels, compared with 115,524,660 at the end of the 1929 crop year. "The last month," the report continues, "appears to have been generally unfavorable to the Canadian grain trade and production." The report remarks that final figures for the crop year on wheat in store will not differ greatly to those in the previous year "unless quantities in farmers' hands are largely in excess of last year's total."

Refuse To Register Orientals

Will Not Qualify Under Relief Plan In British Columbia

Vancouver, B.C.—Destitute Orientals must fend for themselves this winter, it was stated here.

Reports that the Federal and Provincial Governments have refused to contribute toward their keep were verified by J. H. McVety, superintendent of the employment service of Canada, and City Relief Officer H. W. Cooper. They stated they had been ordered to refuse to register all Orientals presenting themselves for living under government unemployment relief schemes.

Mr. McVety said that the employment service had already registered a few. Col. Cooper reported that the officials had been obliged to refuse registration of five Japanese.

BRITISH ATHLETES GIVE GOOD DISPLAY

Although the Oxford and Cambridge athletes went down to defeat in the international meet with Harvard and Yale Universities of the United States, above are two Englishmen who gave a good account of themselves. Above is W. Denison, of Cambridge, breaking the tape at the end of the three-mile race which he won, while Ernest Jones, of Oxford, who turned back strong opposition to win both the 100 and 220 yard events, a remarkable feat.

Early Navigation Of Straits

Season Of Navigation In H.B. Straits Three Weeks Earlier This Year

Ottawa, Ont.—The season of navigation in Hudson Straits this year is at least three weeks ahead of any of the preceding five years that the Marine Department have been undertaking detailed observations on navigation conditions in those waters. This information is contained in a report from Captain Balcom, of the C.O.S. "The Endeavour," Hudson Straits broker, to Hon. A. Durneau, Minister of Marine.

The "N. B. McLean" entered Hudson Straits on July 18, and at this moment is engaged in landing supplies at the radio direction finding station at Nottingham Island at the Hudson Bay end of the Straits. She will remain in the straits until the close of navigation.

High Protein Content

Manitoba Wheat Has Higher Than Usual Percentage This Year

Winnipeg, Man.—A higher than usual percentage of protein content in the wheat crop of Manitoba is indicated by Dr. F. J. Birchard at the research laboratory of the Board of Grain Commissioners here.

The "last record" 12.2 per cent maximum as compared with 14.5 last year, and the average 12.25 as compared with 11.15 in 1930.

Good conditions, states Dr. Birchard, have doubtless been the main factor in producing this very strong wheat.

Tests of Saskatchewan and Alberta wheat have not been made yet.

Good Wishes For Exhibition

Prince Of Wales Expresses Hope That Toronto Exhibition Will Be Successful

London, England.—The Prince of Wales has expressed the hope that despite the depression the forthcoming Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto will prove a great success. The Prince, who is honorary patron of the exhibition, sent a wire to Earl Jellicoe, admiral of the fleet and head of the British Service League, who is to formally open the 1931 exhibition.

Earl Jellicoe read the message from the Prince at a luncheon at which the earl was guest of honor.

Rich Gold Discovery

Spectacular Gold Strike Made At Red Lake, Ont.

Bloux Lookout, Ont.—Discovery of a rich vein of gold, said to be one of the most spectacular gold strikes ever made in Ontario, is reported here. The strike was made at Red Lake on an island four miles from the Howey gold mines.

News of the discovery was confirmed by J. A. Munroe, who made the find himself, and who flew out from Red Lake by aeroplane. Although its extent has not yet been discovered, progress to date gives indications of a valuable strike.

One wall of the vein has been uncovered for a distance of 750 feet and six pits have been sunk, varying from six feet to 15 feet in depth. Visible gold exists in each pit. Prospectors are heading a rush to the surrounding district to stake available land.

Average Yield Less

Government Report Estimates Average Spring Wheat Yield

Ottawa, Ont.—The crop report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates the average yield per acre for spring wheat at 54 as compared with 100, the long term average since records were first collected. The report is based on conditions as of July 31 last. In a former report, based on conditions on June 30, the average yield was placed at 56 so that conditions have fallen off two points during the month. Last year on July 31 the condition was estimated as 86. In the prairie provinces the percentage in Manitoba for spring wheat is placed at 55, in Saskatchewan at 42, and in Alberta at 17, all based on conditions as of July 1.

TWO VESSELS ARE CHARTERED FOR H. B. TEST

Montreal, Que.—Two tramp steamers will load approximately half a million bushels of heavy grain, probably wheat, at Churchill, Man., between September 15 and 25, 1931. Arrangements have been completed by the Dominion Government for a trial of the new "H. B. Test" for grain to Europe this year and a charter certificate has been prepared by Thomas Harling and Son, Montreal, who carried out negotiations.

The S. S. Warworth, Warworth and Farnworth, owned by the Dalgleish Steam Shipping Co., Ltd., have been selected, though no decision has been made as to which two of these three will actually make the trip. The Warworth has a net register of 4,944 tons, the Farnworth, 4,941, and the Wentworth, 5,212. They have been chartered to load 8,000 tons of grain, with an allowance of five per cent. either way. They will probably take on approximately 7,000 tons each, or a little more than 500,000 bushels. The first steamer will load between September 15 and 20 and the second between September 20 and 25.

In making the arrangements it was recognized that an experiment was being carried out, an experimental rate quoted accordingly. As there was no precedent on which to base any quotation, it was decided that through rate from Fort William to London via Montreal should be applied to the northern route. The charter between shipper and ship-owner was fixed at three shillings, nine pence a quarter of 480 pounds which compares with a rate of one shilling, six pence prevailing at present from Montreal to London. The rate from Fort William to Montreal is approximately six cents a bushel, or seven cents, with insurance and storage.

The rate of $3.94 per quarter takes into consideration the hull insurance to be paid by the ship-owner to his underwriters, which is expected to work out at approximately 3 1/2 per cent, or 50 shilling per hundred pounds sterling on the value of the ship and two shillings a ton on the gross registered tonnage. This compares with 3/4 of one per cent, or one shilling, six pence per £100 and is 6d. on the gross registered tonnage for vessels using the St. Lawrence route.

Should these two shipments prove successful it is probable that a definite competitive rate will be arranged for next season when the elevator at Churchill is expected to be in full operation.

The charter certificate stipulates that the vessels to be used this year shall be the "H. B. Test" ships, their arrival at Churchill and ready to load, as no facilities for such a purpose are yet available there.

GANDHI WILL NOT PARTICIPATE IN CONFERENCE

London, England.—Deep regret, coupled with the determination the Indian round table conference must proceed according to plan, is the general feeling in authoritative circles in London following the decision of Mahatma Gandhi at Bombay, not to participate in the second round table conference.

Although there was only one Nationalist congress delegate invited to the second conference—"Mohandas Charnchand Gandhi," as the official list has it—the decision of the leader of the Nationalists influenced two other delegates. These were the famous poetess, Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, and the Pandit Malaviya, who have been identified with the congress movement and who cancelled their steamship passages.

The round table conference will go on with the representatives of the Indian native states, the Moslems and the many other sects of the Indian Empire. The meeting of the Federal Structures Committee will take place not later than September 5.

The utmost sadness at Gandhi's decision was expressed by Rt. Hon. J. R. Sastri, one of India's great statesmen, a former member of the viceroy's legislative council; a man who has done great work for Indians domiciled in the Dominions, including Canada, and the man who is acknowledged leader of the bloc of Indian states.

Bombay, India.—Mahatma Gandhi, the frail, loin-cloth-clad leader of the Hindu Nationalist congress multitudes decided to remain aloof from the second round table conference which will resume the work of drawing up the constitution for the new India in London in September.

At a meeting of the working committee of the congress a resolution passed by the "holy one," calling for abstention from the London party, was adopted. The committee gave as the reason for its decision the "repeated serious breaches of the Delhi pact by the provincial government."

This pact, signed last March by Gandhi and Lord Irwin, then viceroy of India, provided for the abandonment of the year-old civil disobedience campaign on the part of the congress, in return for certain concessions by the authorities such as amnesty for political prisoners. It stipulated the congress should take part in the second round table.

The Mahatma said he was also influenced by the fact that Earl Willingdon, the present viceroy, refused to accede to Gandhi's demand for a tribunal to investigate alleged violations of the pact.

"I need not say what a great blow it has been to me that I am not to go to London," Gandhi stated. "I know what it will mean to Lord Irwin, and I know also what a severe disappointment it will be to my numerous friends in England. But the decision not to go became inevitable. I had hoped against hope justice would be done even at the eleventh hour."

"My request for appointment of an impartial tribunal to adjudicate the breaches" in the Delhi pact was, in my opinion, incredibly simple. If there was a contract between the government and the congress, surely the terms governing all contracts must be applicable, the more so in my opinion because the contract is between a great government and a great organization claiming to represent the whole nation."

Cardinal To Resign

Cardinal Facelli May Resign As Papal Secretary Of State

Vatican City.—Semi-official confirmation of reports that Cardinal Facelli is to resign as papal secretary of state came from the Vatican.

He has sought the Pope's permission it was said, but the Pontiff asked him to wait until the difficulties with Italy over the Catholic Action organization are settled.

It is believed that some sort of accord on that issue will have been reached by autumn and that the cardinal will retire from his office in November or December.

Market For Canadian Malt

Ottawa, Ont.—Successful experiments conducted by breweries in the United States and Canada, with Canadian barley malt makes possible the development of an extensive market in those countries for Canadian barley. J. A. Strong, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Panama City, reported that congress, surely this is to be undertaken by breweries in Venezuela.

BAD NEWS FOR DUCK HUNTERS

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Duck hunters, those persistent men who are up with the sun on the cold fall mornings waiting for the "broadbills" and "whistlers" to swoop down among the decoys, may be out of luck this autumn. A move is on foot in Canada and the United States to have no open season for ducks this fall, or at the most only a very few weeks.

Officials from Washington have been in Ottawa, talking over the situation with representatives of the Parks branch of the Department of Interior and have returned to advise President Herbert Hoover. Dr. Harrison F. Lewis, chief migratory bird officer for Ontario and Quebec, will interview the game officials of the provinces of Western Canada to explain the critical situation to them and decide how far Canada will be prepared to go in the matter when discussions with Washington are resumed.

The drought in Saskatchewan and to a less degree in the prairie provinces is responsible for the situation. Wild ducks arrived in their accustomed breeding grounds to find their favorite water courses dried up. Many died and many others reared no brood of ducklings, according to reports to the department.

Accordingly, only a comparatively few prairie ducks will return south this autumn. The black ducks which breed in Eastern Canada have had a fairly good year, but it is feared that if hunters concentrate on the black ducks they will be very nearly exterminated as well.

So it is proposed to cut the open season this year to the minimum or wipe it out altogether.

HOW SOME NEWSPAPERS TRY TO KEEP PEOPLE ALL RIGHT

In an editorial note last week The Blairmore, Alberta, Enterprise said: An old and hardened criminal in the prison was asked recently what was the first step that led to his ruin, and he answered: "The first step that led to my downfall was cheating an editor out of two years' subscription. When I had done that, the devil had such a grip on me that I could not shake him off."

The Advance for many years has done its best to keep people from thus "going to the devil," by insisting that all subscriptions be paid strictly in advance. By this plan subscribers are prevented from taking that first downward step on the road to ruin. In the working out of this rule, however, a few still injure themselves in ignorance and misery and darkness. When you receive that little pink slip, be sure to read it and to heed it, so that you may continue to receive your copy of The Advance regularly and escape both the darkness of ignorance in this life and the blazing fires of punishment in the next.—Timmins, Ontario, Advance.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Miss Snyder, of Detroit, is paying a visit to her uncle, J. A. Snyder and family.

Miss Freda Tustian, of Chin, is spending a holiday with her cousin, Muriel Marlow.

McGregor's construction crew are located here, where they are working in connection with building the telephone line.

The tenth annual conference of the Women's Institute of the Pincher Creek and Rocky Mountain constituency was held in the W. L. hall at Beaver Mines on the afternoon of August 17th, when a good sized crowd of women attended from Lundbreck, Asquith, Cowley and Beaver Mines districts. Mrs. Blanchard, of Burnis, constituency convener; Mrs. Campbell, of Milk River, district director; Mrs. Hamilton, of Beaver Mines, and Mrs. Murphy, of Cowley, secretary-treasurer, occupied the platform when the meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada" and "The Loch Lomond," followed by reciting the woman's creed. The address of welcome by Mrs. Eddy was replied to by Mrs. Mitchell. Routine business was disposed of, when the secretaries' reports were read, also reports of the branch institutes by Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Link, Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Almond. Mrs. Blanchard gave an interesting report of her work among the branch institutes during the year. The reports of the standing committees, which might be rightly termed the backbone of the institutes, were well prepared and offered a number of helpful hints and suggestions, and were read in order as they came by Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Hammond, Mrs. Bent, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Connelly, Mrs. Lynch-Staunton and Mrs. McDowell.

Mrs. Lynch-Staunton gave a historic address, when she fluently related in her pleasing manner the settling of Canada, skirmishes with the Indians and the hardships of the early settlers, who bravely held their own when they laid the foundation of one of the most progressive nations of the world. She stressed the building of the railways, the advent of the Northwest Mounted Police and the sacrifice of our young manhood to both the South African and world wars. "The Canadian people are a loyal and clean-minded people," continued Mrs. Lynch-Staunton. Mrs. Campbell held her audience when she delivered an address in her gentle, yet persuasive style, ably speaking in her work as she did in connection with the conferences of the southern district No. 4. She stressed the financial problem in connection with carrying on expenses of the provincial conventions, as well as the district and constituency conferences, and continued with saying that a woman's life is one of service in the building up of a home and rearing and educating a family, together with doing her bit of public work in the community in which she lives. Education is the road to progress, as it makes our lives broader, brighter and better and our greater happiness, she said; it is found in considering the needs of others. Those contributing to the entertainments were: Miss Noreen Smith, who gave a recitation; Mrs. Ed. Grove, Mrs. Connelly, Mrs. Eddy and Miss Lila Bent rendered piano solos, while Mrs. McDowell and Mrs. Eddy played for the community singing. Election of officers was as follows: Mrs. Blanchard, constituency convener; Mrs. Murphy, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Murphy, agriculture; Mrs. Hammond, education and better schools; Mrs. Bent, immigration; Mrs. Hamilton, legislation; Mrs. Morrison, child welfare and better health; Mrs. Connelly, Canadian industries; Mrs. Almond, household economics; Mrs. Eddy, league of nations; Mrs. Lynch-Staunton, Canadianization; Mrs. McDowell, publicity. The conference adjourned to meet at Cowley in 1932. The Beaver Mines Institute entertained the ladies right royally to an appetizing luncheon, served from daintily set tables, which graced under the weight of tasty viands and decorated with rich bouquets of cut flowers, after which a short dance

PITEOUS APPEAL TO HOLY FATHER TELLS OF WANT IN RUSSIA

Berlin, Aug. 5.—Great physical want exists in Russia under the brutal collectivist and departmental measures of the Moscow Central, and many German-Russian settlers, who by industriousness had gained a certain financial security in their Russian life and the Ural region, have been deprived of it and subjected to forced labor, says word reaching here. Only seldom does a cry of distress come over the spiked walls of the Soviet Union of Western Europe. Here, however, is a letter of a Catholic German-Russian from the Volga region, which was addressed to the Holy Father and a copy of which has just come to light here:

"To the Holy Father of the Universal Church in Rome."

"Fearful and with fluttering heart, I permit myself, a common layman, to come before Your Holiness with a few words.

"I am not worthy to speak to you, but bodily need constrains me thereto. Our Lord says, 'Ask and you will receive, knock and it shall be opened to you.' If a child is hungry and cold, it turns to its Father: 'Father I am so hungry and so cold. Help me.' This cry resounds over hill and valley, over the Ural mountains, out of Russia into the Holy City of Rome.

"Yes, dear Father, help, for your lowly sufferer, and that greatly. Many, many of our brothers in the Faith—and with them I, with my family, and my brother with his family—had to leave our homes and all that was dear to us to wander in the hardwood and metal work of the Ural mountains. Tired, spent, wounded, we exist, but the need for bread grows greater from day to day.

"For that reason, I ask in the name of all the faithful here, that you all in western Europe may put out your gentle hand and give us the crumbs that fall from your table. Share with us your extra clothes and cover our nakedness. Yes, not only to all the faithful, but the entire German nation, I address my plea. Help our small innocent children who still suffer such great want.

"So I will then, in full hope, trust and build in you, Holy Father, and not despair. The help will not be wanting that will be my deliverance. 'Forgive my boldness, but it is caused by hunger.

"With feeling greetings to all, from all the brothers of our Roman Catholic Church."—Ex.

CORBIN HAPPENINGS

The fire, which crossed over the Morrisey summit and started burning towards Corbin on Wednesday, took a serious turn for the worse on Sunday afternoon. The blaze split on the summit, one part burning towards the Alberta border and the other eating its way down the valley towards the wye, a section of the town where the roundhouse and water tank, lumber yards and a number of dwellings are situated. This valley contains heavy timber and a quantity of slashings. On Saturday the first named blaze was reported having burned itself practically out in green timber and of no danger to Corbin. Sunday, the wind changed, bringing this fire back on itself from the Alberta border, when it raced towards No. 6 mine and camp, about a mile up from the main town of Corbin, while a favorable wind also brought the valley fire within three and half miles of the wye by dusk. Pumps have been installed in the stream at the wye and hose lengths connected, ready to protect the buildings. A clearing has been made from the Flathead road in a half circle around to the main highway. In the town of Corbin, three-quarters of a mile up the track, every precaution was taken to combat fire. A hose length was connected to each hydrant, to be ready to put out any fires set by sparks in the town. Men were put on patrol to watch for flying sparks and to locate small fires caused by same during Sunday night. Although the fire in some parts were burning as strongly as before, for the most part the situation was very much better than on the day previous.

IF the fox had kept on, straight ahead,
Instead of stopping, as has been said,
He'd have caught the goose—no doubt he would—
At least the story says he could.

In fact the story makes me laugh—
He'd have caught that 30-pounder pike.
He lost it. "For the love o' Mike."
'Says Bill: "It was a monster—'jack!'
As long as that, and on the hook."

He'd have been a bloomin' millionaire—
Poor Jones, he missed it by a hair.

CANADIAN ROCKIES ECHO
WI' SKIRL O' THE PIPES

From the four corners of Canada and from across the seas, men, women and children of Scotch ancestry are preparing to meet at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Banff Springs Hotel, Banff, Alta., for the annual Highland Gathering, August 27-30, 1931. The event, which has become historic, is under the distinguished patronage of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and will be formally opened by H.R.H. Prince Sukholaya of Siam. A feature of this year's program will be the inter-regimental piping competition between representatives of the 17 Highland Regiments in Canada. There will also be the other bagpipe competitions and displays which have made the Gathering famous, as well as dancing and highland games. The meeting always draws a large gallery, in addition to the army of costumed pipers. Juvenile competitions in piping and dancing are particularly attractive. In addition to the regular events, two Scotch light operas: "Prince Charming" and "Prince Charlie and Flora" will be presented by members of the resident company. The setting is ideal for the Gathering: the peaks of the famous Canadian Rockies, with their gracious valleys and spry-flecked streams forming a magnificent background for the Banff Springs Hotel, which is built in the Scotch baronial style.

VALUE OF TOURIST TRAFFIC

Attention will be focused on the tourist traffic, and its development, when the Canadian Good Roads Association meets at Lucerne, Quebec, on September 22 and 23. Thorough consideration of ways and means of increasing this trade will be discussed. Official delegates from every province of the Dominion, and from Newfoundland, will meet with representatives of other transportation interests and of the tourist trade itself. A speaker who is known throughout Canada for his interest in public affairs is expected to introduce this subject. It has been pointed out that an annual influx of foreign money to the extent of over $300,000,000 accrues to Canada as the result of this trade. In value it rivals that of Canada's exports of grain or minerals. While directly increasing the prosperity of those engaged in transporting and serving the tourists, thus giving employment to many people, the influence of the tourist trade is recognized as an important factor in our national prosperity.

ARRANGEMENTS TO DEAL WITH UNEMPLOYMENT

Reaching Calgary on Monday night for a two weeks' holiday, Rt. Hon. B. Bennett announced that arrangements had been made by the federal government to deal with unemployment problems without loss of time. Referring to the economic situation, Mr. Bennett said: "According to observers, who have dispassionately studied the situation from statistical and other sources of information, Canada has been less affected by the universal economic depression than any other country in the world. Political partisanship makes it impossible for our opponents to give the government credit for what has been achieved. Yet it is the considered opinion of those whose findings are based upon the application of economic principles that the unemployment and tariff legislation of the short session of 1930 have enabled us to survive a period of testing in a manner denied to most countries."

"It may be of interest to Canadians to know that $17,842,962 of the $20,000,000 voted for relief last fall resulted in the construction of public undertakings to the extent of $70,846,437 and that notwithstanding the fact that $4,000,000 was available, only one and three-quarters millions were requisitioned and expended for direct relief up to the end of July last."

"It may also be of interest to note that up to the end of last month, more than 310,000 individuals were given employment on the works mentioned and nearly seven millions' man's days work were provided. This does not take into account the number of individuals in Canada engaged in the production of materials of all kinds which were used in the construction of the public works and undertakings referred to. It was believed in all countries that there would be a gradual improvement in worldwide economic conditions by the late summer of this year. In fact, leading authorities were prepared to stake their reputations upon the certainty of that happening. There has, however, been little apparent change. "Slight improvement is noticeable in Eastern Canada to the extent to which the tariff legislation has insured Canadian production. Canadian unemployment has been lessened, and work has been provided within our own Dominion. But the low price of wheat and other grains, butter, dairy and other farm products, means limited purchasing power on the part of the producing population."

"Many hundreds of thousands of Canadians have become more and more self-sustaining by reason of the production of vegetables, butter and eggs for their own use. The price of wheat is still very low. Arrangements have been made to insure an initial payment bearing some relation to present market values, which together with the payment of a five cents bonus on each bushel delivered to elevators will place in immediate circulation a very considerable sum of money, with great resulting benefits. Although the budget of the government was bitterly opposed by Liberal members from the west, the government provided, for the first time, for a payment of a bonus to the wheat producers. This bonus will be made available as wheat is delivered at the elevators, and the payment will be administered through the board of wheat commissioners."

"The details of the administration were settled before I left Ottawa. If the crop delivered into the elevators of the three provinces of the west amounts to only one hundred and forty millions of bushels, this bonus alone will place in circulation amongst two millions of people the very large sum of seven millions of dollars."

"The succession of bad harvests in Saskatchewan and some parts of Alberta has placed upon the provinces a burden too great to be borne without federal assistance. The situation has, to a very great extent, already been provided for."

"The immediate difficulties in connection with unemployment will be met by (a) federal undertakings; (b) undertakings promoted by the provincial authorities to which assistance will be given by the Dominion government. Obviously the Dominion government will not and should not endeavor to discharge the constitutional obligations of the provinces. To do so would be to subordinate the provincial legislatures to the federal power. The primary responsibility rests with the provinces and the municipalities, but the Dominion government will deal through the provinces, grant such assistance as will enable the provinces and municipalities without undue strain to meet the emergency conditions."

"With respect to the trans-Canada highway, the Dominion government has asked each province by order-in-council to designate the highway within its boundaries to be known as the 'trans-Canada highway.' That highway will be brought up to the standard provided for by the Dominion government."

"Grades will be reduced, curves eliminated, and roads, where necessary, widened, and hereafter the extra cost of the maintenance of such 'trans-Canada highway' will be borne by the federal government. That is, the extra cost of making and maintaining such road to a federal standard, if such road has been constructed inferior to that of the Dominion, it appears probable that the road from Nova Scotia joining the New Brunswick border at the Isthmus of Chignecto, will continue through Quebec to the city of Montreal, and from that city up the valley of the Ottawa to North Bay, thence north to Hearst and then north and west to Herron Bay."

"From the latter point to Kenora a large number of men will be employed during the coming winter. From Kenora to the Manitoba boundary the road is nearly completed, and when the section in British Columbia, now under construction is finished, there will be a through highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In every province of Canada, work will be necessary on the 'trans-Canada highway' which will provide considerable immediate employment."

FRATERNAL CONGRESS MEETS IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—Representatives of 89 societies, whose membership includes more than 10,000,000 men and women in the United States and Canada, gathered in Montreal on Monday for the opening of the 18th annual convention of the National Fraternal Congress of America.

The members were invited to participate in the campaign for a $1,000,000 memorial to Ellur Wright, almost forgotten figure in American business, who has recently been revealed as the "father" of the life insurance industry in the United States.

The invitation was extended by William Chendenin, of the American Conservation Company of Chicago who announced the memorial would probably take the form of an endowment chair of insurance in one of the leading universities.

A son was born to Lady Benson, wife of Canada's new governor-general, at Montreal on Friday last, it being the second time since confederation that a child has been born during the tenure of a governor-general.

WHAT'S THE USE OF GETTING WORRIED

What's the use of getting worried,
Though your hair is turning grey;
When your heart can keep on singing
In the same old happy way?
What's the use of getting fussy,
Though your body's frail and old,
When your sun of life is setting
In a sky of flaming gold?

To some you may seem childish
When you pass your youthful morn,
But 'tis of the childish spirit
That Eternity is born;
Tis just the worn and weary shell
That fades to chill decay
The soul is growing younger,
Fairer, stronger every day!
There never was a winter
But was herald of a spring,
And the God who brought this summer

Will another summer bring.
Why, everywhere around us,
No matter where we go,
Shines the glory of renewal
Of things that live and grow.

O don't use paint and powder
And hide with foolish fears
The beauty of the harvest
And the mellowing of the years,
Age is just a golden evening
When we lay our work away
And wait, with quiet hands folded
For the dawn of Easter Day.
—Ena Constance Barrett, Newfoundland.

He moved away, while Angela threw her husband a look of dread. He put a hand on her shoulder.

"Steady," he said, quietly. "That's over. Everything's all right."

He might have been reassuring a frightened child. With a sense of rebellion Angela realized it, and realized also that he could calm her as could no one else. It made her suddenly furious that she should be dependent on James Halliday for anything.

She glanced at Nick, who, gazing across the water, was apparently oblivious of the storm that was brewing behind him. How tall, and straight, and handsome he was, she thought. And how impossible she had found it to make the sort of impression on him that she had made so easily on others. What was the thing that kept her at arm's length from him? That kiss should have finished him! Never before had Angela offered her lips without an invitation.

She breathed deeply, so deeply that her husband glanced at her. She was thinking, "It was the hurricane that made the trouble. It drove me out of my mind, just as it was making an impression. Everything is against me—always has been. Why on earth did those silly Ashley men go to kill themselves? It wasn't my fault, yet Jim blames me—looks at me over his shoulder whenever I look at another man. I can see his eyes now—the way they looked when that horrid maid rushed in with the news of the suicides. They burned me like hot coals. Is he so perfect that he could look at me like that? Oh, if I could make him suffer a small part of what I suffered then, but—"

Nick turned. He had evidently been thinking to some purpose as he gazed out to sea. "Angela," he said quietly, "there's something I want to say to you before I leave the boat tomorrow morning. This is a good time as any, I suppose. Would you mind telling me, if you had this letter before you came to Kingston, to ask me to go on the cruise?"

He had taken a sheet of crumpled paper from his pocket and handed it to her.

Angela took the paper and smoothed it out. She was thinking: "It must have dropped out of my pocket when I was walking." She said, a trifle scornfully: "Are you in the habit of reading other people's mail?"

If she expected the taunt to hurt, she was disappointed. Nick met her eyes unflinching.

"When a man finds an open letter on an uninhabited island, and at first glance sees his wife's name, he would think, he is superhuman if he didn't read it. Remember too, that the letter had no beginning and no end. Until I read it I could hardly return it to the owner. After I read it, I knew of course, who the owner was. What I ask you is—did you know it was my duty to go home when you urged me to take this trip?"

"Duty?"

W. N. U. 1903

She shrugged in a way that stirred Nick's anger, but he said quietly: "I think duty's the right word, though I shouldn't have thought of it as a duty, had I known it was needed."

"Needed?" She raised her eyebrows. Her tone was tantalizing. "Needed, what way?"

"It's not in your way to understand—"

"Nick began hotly, but she interrupted him."

"Perhaps it's not. I never had a child. My husband, you see, prefers to pierce his children out of the gutter."

"Angela," warned Halliday, his voice like steel.

"Did you have that letter before you urged me to go?" Nick persisted doggedly, unimpaired of Halliday's warning glance.

Angela arose, and faced him. Halliday too, arose, as if fearful of some explosion, his anxious eyes on her face.

"Angela," he said again, "be careful. This is no time for a scene. Don't lose your temper."

"Temper?" The warning came too late. "Be careful what you say, and how you catch me, you Nick Hastings, you act like a prosecuting attorney but if you'd stop and ask yourself a few questions—ask why your wife kept that secret from you as if it were something shameful—you'll find that ridiculous to think of besides the ridiculous letter from Julie Nipper. You're innocent as a baby, but you won't be innocent when I'm through with you. I—"

"Stop!" commanded Halliday sternly. "Do you want the whole ship to hear? Stop at once, and think what your temper has cost before. Remember the Ashley's. It was because you were angry with me that you kept him out all night. Think—"

She turned on him furiously.

"Oh, I've thought, and thought, and I've seen things you never meant me to see. You'll confess now, you hypocrite. You'll tell Nick Hastings why you've been sneaking back to Bakersville every week, pretending that you went to see that little gutter-snipe. You'll tell him why you went at the time of day when he'd be busy at the bank. You'll tell him how crazy you are about his precious wife—and you'll tell who's the father of that baby that's coming in September. You—"

"Take that back!"

Nick was facing her—his eyes ablaze—one finger pointing straight at her in a way that looked to her suddenly terrified eyes, as she saw the gleam of steel in his hand. Then, in a moment she realized that the finger had run away with her against, that she had gone too far. Panic was already seizing her, as Nick repeated, with a deadly quietness that was more terrifying than any anger. Then, strangely, she who had never offered anything but her own will, turned and fled. One look she cast behind, only to meet Nick's furious eyes, and that terrible pointing finger its scorn. Halliday stood like a statue, not seeming to have an eyelash tilted toward his wife's feet on the stairs had ceased. Then Nick said, and his voice shook: "Perhaps—I owe you an apology—for speaking to your wife like that; but—"

"No, my friend—she gave you the right."

Halliday's voice was queer, and cracked, and lifeless. He had to clear his throat before he added: "Sit down, Hastings. I can't stand up. These scenes—they take something out of me that I can't get back; and this—there has never been anything like this. As to that hideous accusation of Mrs. Halliday's—"

"Don't speak of it—ever again!"

Nick's voice was hoarse. He was shaking from head to foot.

"Do you think I don't trust my wife? Do you think I'd demean her by listening to an explanation? Do you think that I don't trust you? You asked me no questions that dreadful time when Mrs. Halliday and I were out all night? And do you think for a minute that even should you tell me it were true, I would believe you? If you do—you don't know Gay."

His eyes met Halliday's, and the older man saw there something he had seen but once before, on the night when Gay had said that her own wonderful eyes to his: "No harm will ever come to your wife through Nick. Mr. Halliday. Whatever's happened—it won't be that."

Trust—that was it. Complete and abiding trust. To few is it given, perhaps. To James Halliday the sign of it—the knowledge that such a thing existed, had changed and became a place of bitterness and gall. For a moment he closed his eyes, seeing Gay's face in the moonlight, had seen it the night before he came away

—feeling again the soft touch of her hands against his lips. He arose wearily, drawing a deep breath. He seemed suddenly to have aged, and his voice shook."

"We have brought you nothing but trouble, Hastings. We bring trouble to everyone we touch."

He turned with dragging step and went below, looking down at Angela, who lay huddled in her berth.

His back was toward him, and she made no sign to show her knowledge of his presence; but Halliday knew, from her relaxed attitude, that the storm was over.

He stooped, laying a hand upon her shoulder—that steady hand which, unknown to herself, she had grown to depend on in times like this. Then he spoke, his words brought to the listening woman a sense of intolerable desolation.

"Angela," he said, so gently that she knew there was no anger—only sorrow behind the words, "I have had, I think, a fair measure of patience all these years, but there's a limit, you know, to the things one can forget, and—and forgive—and go on living with. You overstepped that limit when, knowing me as you do, you accused me of any such daft doings. I think—I fear—that we have reached the parting of the ways."

She sprang up, for once unmindful of her rumpled gown—her disheveled hair. She grasped his hand, clutching at it in fear—holding it against her breast with trembling fingers.

"No! No! You don't mean that, Jim. You can't mean that! What—what should I do alone?"

It was the first time she had ever voiced her need of him, yet it left him cold. Quietly, gently, Halliday unclasped his fingers that held his hand, and turning, went out and closed the door.

Prince Buys Unusual Car

Principles Of Airship Incorporated In Machine Of New Design

Following his order for two outboard speed boats, the Prince of Wales has ordered a new car of unconventional design.

Decorated with his own colours—red and black—the car, which is nearly completed, will be delivered to York House for the Prince's personal use.

Its designer, Sir Dennistoun Burney, is the builder of the R-10, and he has incorporated in the car the principles of an airship.

The Prince has been driving through London streets in one of these cars, and on several occasions has taken the wheel himself.

He was so pleased with the performance of the car, that he decided to have one built for himself.

It is understood that the Prince will retain the conventional form of car for London purposes, and will use the new car when making journeys in the country.

In the new car the engine is placed at the rear, and from a side view the body resembles a segment of a circle.

There is no hood, but the front of the car rises in a sloping line from above the wheels to an arched roof.

Canadian Destroyer Welcomed At Victoria

H.M.C.S. Skeena Reaches Future Base On Pacific Coast

Welcomed by H.M.C.S. Vancouver and nearly 350 Victorians aboard the steamer "Prince of Wales," H.M.C.S. Skeena, one of the destroyers built for the Royal Canadian Navy, steamed into Esquimalt Harbour, her future base on this coast.

The boys' band of the Navy League rendered a programme of musical airs when the "Vancouver" and "Skeena" were sighted and the "Princess Elizabeth" sounded a welcome with her whistle.

Attorney-General R. H. Pooley was aboard the "Princess Elizabeth," representing the provincial government.

Praise For Y.M.C.A.

Premier Bennett Pays High Tribute To Good Work of Organization

In words of highest commendation, Premier R. B. Bennett, speaking in Ottawa recently, paid tribute to the work of the Young Men's Christian Association. In times of prosperity and happiness, the Y.M.C.A. had not ceased from its labours, he said.

"The assurance of its ever increasing power for good lies in the record of its past achievements," Premier Bennett declared in speaking of the institution. "It was founded in the spirit of Christian service, and it has grown great through the world's urgent need for it."

The nations of the earth spent $4,158,000,000 for national defence during the last fiscal year, the World Peace Foundation reports.

Deaths under one year of age in Scotland last year numbered 7,851.

Town Well Governed

And Hopeston, Illinois, Pays Only $2.50 Yearly in Salaries

In Hopeston, Illinois, the enterprising little city of 4,000, just far enough down-state from Chicago so it can't hear the machine guns of gangsterism, there aren't any problems of official corruption, crime and inefficiency—and good government costs only $2.50 yearly!

Being mayor or alderman is considered a civic duty. Municipal officers take pride in giving as good administration as possible. They work hard and often for long hours to complete their tasks and satisfy the people who elected them that they are ruling wisely and well. And here's what they are paid:

Mayor Emery H. Richebeck, a real estate agent by occupation, gets 50 cents a year.

The eight aldermen, who so ably assist "hizzoner," receive 25 cents annually.

None ever complains that he isn't paid enough. In fact the mayor is so proud of his record he isn't even going to cash his pay checks. He says he will have the first one framed and probably he'll do the same with the second one, which he receives at the end of the two-year term.

There is not one outstanding debt or bond facing the mayor or his council. Instead there is $30,000 in the treasury and an additional $25,000 has been loaned to citizens. Hopeston is solvent, with money in the bank.

It has miles of pavement, owns its own waterworks and has $15,000 worth of new fire equipment. There are two fine parks, a zoo, a municipal auditorium, swimming pool, a city library, a garage system—and they're all paid for.

Right now the council is saving the city funds to build a new city hall to replace the old one destroyed by fire several years ago. But there won't be a bond issue. The money must be on hand before the building is started. They operate on a cash basis here in Hopeston.

Bears Take Air Journey

Two Cubs From North Alaska Brought To Edmonton

From far north Alaska, two young black bear cubs arrived at Edmonton airport, after what is probably the longest flight ever taken by two bruin youngsters.

The bears brought down by Jimmy Matern and Nick Greener, in the Robbins-Jones refuel ship, seemed none the worse for their long air journey from Fairbanks.

There was never a growl out of them as the doctors said: "When the motors started they covered down in the crate, but didn't seem to mind the adventure so much."

Fewer Apprentices

Apprenticeship as a system, and time honoured practice of youths "learning a trade," is disappearing in Great Britain, figures of the London Trades Council reveal. There is now only one apprentice for every 2,000 workmen in Britain. Before the war there was an apprentice for every four workmen.

ACHES

There's scarcely an ache or pain that Aspirin will not relieve promptly. It can't remove the cause, but it will relieve the pain! Headaches, Backaches, Neuritis and neuralgias, rheumatism, etc., can be read proven directions for many important uses. Genuine Aspirin can't depress the heart. Look for the Bayer cross:

MADE IN GERMANY

New Source For Dyes

The Soviet High Pressure Institute announces development of a new source of dyes, the basis of which is said to be the extraction of the leaves of the sumac-sapling bushes of the Crimea and Caucasus. Application of the new dyes to woolen goods has been pronounced successful by Professor Poroy-Koshits of the Institute.

Trader Horn's Fortune Small

Trader Horn, hero of many adventures in the African wilds, who died recently in Kent, England, left less than $5,000. Mrs. Marie Louise Scott, his widow, said that the stories that he left a fortune of between $200,000 and $300,000 were sheer imagination. "My father received little more than $10,000 from the film depicting some of his adventures," she added.

Never Too Old To Learn

Anyone In Reasonably Sound Health Competent To Fly Airplane

Captain J. W. C. Martyn, a retired officer of the British Navy, took lessons in flying recently and his instructor told him he was proficient to attempt the test for a class "A" pilot's license. Captain Martyn tried and passed. He is 76 years of age.

There are many British pilots between the ages of 17 and 70. One of the 17 years old pilots was a competent airman at 14, but 17 is the age limit for obtaining a certificate so far as youth is concerned. But apparently there is no limit to the age at the other end of the scale.

It would seem that any man or woman in reasonably sound health is competent to fly an airplane.

There are many people today who never dreamed they would ever drive an automobile. When cars came out they seemed difficult things to manage, and they were really a job for competent engineers. But cars have been so simplified that any child or old person is able to handle them.

And although there are many people, even among the young generation, who never dream that they will pilot an airplane, engineers are making these machines so simple to handle, and almost fool-proof so far as the control of them is concerned, that the time may come when they will drive airplanes with as much nonchalance as they drive automobiles today.

Some of the wonders of engineering science is the way highly complicated and powerful machines are made to be the tool of anyone who learns how to manipulate a few levers and wheels.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michells

THE PROMISE

I am so sure of joys Which some day must be mine, I do not doubt that any more Than that the sun will shine.

A still voice sings within, Slings on and will not cease, And something in its measures brings A surety of peace.

The bridge of care leads on To meadows of delight; Though straight the way I journey now, My wings are prepared for flight.

I know the spring returns When surly winter goes, And so my soul denies defeat Through its December snows.

The last asthma attack may really be the last one if prompt measures are taken. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy will safeguard you. It will penetrate to the smallest bronchial passage and bring about a healthy condition. It always relieves and its continued use often has a permanent effect. Why not get this long-famous remedy to-day and commence its use? Inhaled as smoke or vapour it is equally effective.

HE COULDN'T READ FOR INDIGESTION

"For some years previous to 1922 I was subject to indigestion, with headaches and thousands of stars sparkling in my eyes, which prevented me from reading. I decided to try Kruschen Salts. That was August, 1922, and I have taken a little in my first morning cup of tea ever since. I now eat anything and am entirely free from indigestion or 'stars.'—F. C."

Now let it be said quite definitely, that what Kruschen did for him, it will do for everybody else who suffers from indigestion as he did. The fact is that "The Little Daily dose" first stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion, and then ensures complete, regular, and unailing elimination of all waste matter every day.

Soon after you start on Kruschen you will begin to feel the benefit. As you progress, you will find that you are able to enjoy your food without any distressing after-effects. As you persevere, you will see that the relief which Kruschen brings is lasting relief.

Little Helps For This Week

"Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."—Hebrews xi. 1.

Strong Son of God, Immortal Love, Whom we have had not seen Thy face,

By faith and faith alone, embrace, Believing where we cannot prove.

We have but faith; we cannot know, For knowledge is of things we see; And yet we trust it comes from Thee,

A beam in darkness; let it grow, For faith is ours, from God to God, Through Jesus, to the Father's home.—Alfred Tennyson.

Without faith a man's future is dark and gloomy. The man of true faith never despairs. Faith is as it were, the eye through which he sees the all-merciful Providence taking care of the least and the most insignificant of His creatures. And hence, in the midst of the severest trials, the believer in God does not lose his heart.—The Bihbihanad.

Swims Across Niagara

Young Girl Makes Crossing Just Below Falls In Ten Minutes

Due to the cause of the river boat, "Maid of the Mist," little 14-year-old Mary Bell of Port Dalhousie, Ont., recently swam the Niagara River just below Niagara Falls, in ten minutes, and set up a record for the crossing. The record of 11 minutes was held by William "Red" Hill, veteran river man.

She entered the water from the United States side and swam across to the boat landing on the Canadian shore. She was accompanied by a ticket agent on the "Maid of the Mist" and a cabin boy in a small rowboat.

Never before has a woman attempted the treacherous swim. Miss Bell's father is engineer of the "Maid of the Mist."

Had Their Own

"Yes," said the boastful young man, "my family can trace its ancestry back to William the Conqueror." "I suppose," sneered his friend, "you'll be telling us that your ancestors were in the Ark with Noah."

"Certainly not," said the boaster. "My people had a boat of their own."

A kind of "warm" ice is said to have been invented by a Berlin chemist for use in the construction of skating rinks. The ice, which looks like hoar frost, is said to have a melting point many degrees above ordinary temperature at which ice melts. It is thus possible to skate in an ice-rink without feeling cold. Indeed, the inventor says that with the exercise one need not have more than an ordinary bathing suit and yet be comfortable.

The very latest fish story comes from Portland, Maine, to the effect that a party named Jay Holmes, of New York, reported having been towed for eleven hours by a 700-pound mackerel. After towing the party away out to sea, the mackerel turned about and dragged them to shore again. He then broke away. The only scale used to decide the weight of that fish was one off the fish. Then, to make matters worse, the press statement contends that mackerel fishing is prosecuted with harpoons, but some of the most daring fishermen use a large hook and line.

The number of letters posted in the mail box at the local depot of late has become so great that the mail clerks on the trains are unable to cope with the volume and efficiently sort same in the short time at their disposal, so we have been asked to drop the public to drop their mail in the post office instead of at the depot. While regulations call for the closing of the mail by 6.30 p.m., the mail is hardly ever made up before 9.30, and this should give everyone ample time to have their mail handled in time for the east-bound train.
